A Great Western-Themed Horseback Ride

sponsored by Dean Bank

Experience the Spirit of the Old West on Horseback

Our adventure began at the ranch, aka, the CCC camp at Upton State Forest. Although Upton State Forest isn't exactly the Old West, our September 14th ride gave us the opportunity to dress up in our best cowgirl and cowboy duds.

Cowgirl Stacy Hayes

For 6.8 miles, 34 riders could imagine riding through open plains and dusty trails on their trusty steeds as they meandered through the forest. Our chuck wagon served up a variety of sandwiches and salads along with decadent desserts to satisfy hungry cowgirls and cowboys upon their return to the "ranch". You could hear the gentle sound of hooves as the horses munched on hay tied to their trailers.

After everyone chowed down, Suzanne announced the winners of our most authentic cowgirl/cowboy outfits. The winners were Kathy Hatrick-Anderson, Jill Brag, Beth Story, Lisa Gagnon, Anna-Maria Paul, Stacy Hayes and Debby Foley.

Cowgirl hats, chaps, kerchiefs and 6-shooters hanging off the hips completed the western look. And the Old West wouldn't be complete without a cow and an Indian.

6 shooters Kathy Hatrick-Anderson, Jill Brag, Beth Story, Lisa Gagnon

Debby Foley

As always, we want to recognize our "ranch hands" – Suzanne Nicholas our "trail boss", trail markers Anna-Maria Paul and Kathy Rich, Sue Perry and Rose Zariczny trailer parking, Deb Deschene and Sue Quirk lunch & setup/take down, Karen Parlin raffle, trail unmarking team MaryEllen Coyne and Gloria Duhaime, Joyce Sandvik registration, and of course all those who donated desserts.

As the sun set lower in the afternoon sky, the horses were loaded and the trailers moved out heading home to their own New England Old West ranches. Fortunately, it was a law-abiding group and those 6-shooters stayed in their holsters, so the Sheriff didn't have to put anyone in the "hoosegow." Giddy Up! By Joyce Sandvik

The 36th Annual Fall Hunter Pace, hosted by the Bay State Trail Riders Association, unfolded under flawless autumn skies—crisp air, falling leaves, and a course that invited riders to revel in the season. With 25 thoughtfully placed jumps and a well-marked route, participants enjoyed a scenic ride through DCR's Douglas State Forest, followed by a delicious catered lunch from Wil-low Brook and an irresistible spread of homemade desserts.

Though I didn't ride this year, I stationed myself along the SNETT near the stone arch bridge to photograph riders as they passed. What I didn't expect was how many other trail users joined in the fun—some quite literally!

One gentleman walking his dog paused near a low jump. I asked, "Does your dog jump?" He smiled and said yes—and sure enough, I captured a great photo of the pair sailing over the obstacle together. Later, while we were packing up the jumps, a father and his two sons came by. I jokingly apologized for removing the jump before they could try it. "No problem," the dad replied, "they already did the one behind us!" Clearly, the jumps had broad appeal.

A jogger approached next, and I couldn't resist calling out, "Take the jump—you know you want to!" He laughed and leapt over with a grin that said it all. Then came a man on an electric unicycle—my first sighting of one on the trail. I stopped him to let him know about the event and the horses ahead. He was well-versed in trail etiquette and continued on his way, a modern twist on multi-use trail harmony.

Mt. Jefferson Pleasure Ride sponsored by United Ag & Turf Northeast and Webster First Federal Credit Union

What a winning streak of weather we've had for our rides lately—and the Mt. Jefferson Pleasure Ride was no exception. Under brilliant skies, riders from Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New Hampshire gathered to enjoy a picture-perfect day on the trails.

A special shout-out goes to Bob Hatch and Stephanie Frend, who've been hard at work preparing a brand-new trail for this event. Their efforts paid off—every rider agreed it was a joy to ride. The trail, soon to be officially blazed and signed, will be named Moose Tracks. We suspect there's a story behind that name, and we're eager to hear it!

After the ride, we gathered under the shade of the old oak tree for a well-earned lunch. Giacomo's Gourmet Foods provided a delicious array of wraps—Vegan, Guido Pesto, Muffuletta, and Turkey (BAM)—while riders contributed a green salad, two pasta salads, and a tempting spread of desserts. The food was fantastic, the company even better, and the view from our lunch spot was simply stunning.

There was plenty of laughter, especially over a couple of memorable t-shirts. One featured a clever design I managed to snap a photo of. The other, worn by Ed, had us all chuckling—a series of white splats labeled with bird names: chickadee, cardinal, blue jay, and more. Turns out it was a bird poo ID chart!

With bellies full and horses rested, we all headed home with smiles and great memories. Huge thanks to Joyce Sandvik for handling registration, and to Bob Hatch and Stephanie Frend for marking the trails—on foot, no less! Thanks also to everyone who pitched in to make this ride such a success. BK
