2026: Welcoming the Year of the Fire Horse

A spirited year for equestrians everywhere

Every 12 years, the Chinese zodiac cycles through its familiar parade of animals but only once every 60 years does the Horse return in its fiery form. Beginning February 17, 2026, the world enters the Year of the Fire Horse, a rare and dynamic combination known for passion, movement, and bold momentum.

For an equestrian community like ours, it's hard to imagine a more fitting symbolic companion for the year ahead.

What Makes a Fire Horse Year Special?

In Chinese astrology, the Horse represents freedom, energy, independence, and the joy of motion—traits any rider recognizes instantly in a spirited mount. Add the element of Fire, and those qualities intensify into courage, creativity, and transformative drive. It's a year associated with big strides, decisive action, and embracing challenges with heart.

The Fire Horse is often described as a creature that refuses to stand still—restless in the best possible way, always seeking the next horizon. That sense of forward motion mirrors the work we do on the trails, in the ring, and within our community: building, improving, exploring, and riding toward something better.

A Symbolic Boost for Our Equestrian Community

As we plan events, steward our trails, and welcome new riders into the fold, the Fire Horse offers a symbolic tailwind. Its themes align beautifully with our mission:

- Energy & Momentum: A perfect year for advancing projects, strengthening partnerships, and tackling long-awaited improvements.
- Freedom & Exploration: Encourages us to celebrate open space, trail access, and the joy of riding in nature.
- Courage & Leadership: Inspires volunteers, mentors, and advocates to step forward with confidence.
- Creativity & Renewal: A reminder to innovate—whether in outreach, education, or community engagement.

A Rare Opportunity

Because Fire Horse years are infrequent, they've long been considered powerful turning points—times when bold ideas take root and spirited communities thrive. As we ride into 2026, we can embrace that symbolism as both a celebration and a challenge: to match the Fire Horse's vitality with our own.

Here's to a year of strong strides, bright sparks, and wide-open trails.

May the Fire Horse carry us forward with purpose and passion.

How Our Election Process Works

Each year our members play an essential role in shaping the leadership of our organization. The process begins with a membership vote on the slate of Board members. Any member who is interested in serving is welcome to nominate themselves for consideration, ensuring an open and inclusive path to leadership.

Once the membership vote is finalized, the results are announced at our Annual General Meeting. At that time, the newly elected board convenes to elect the organization's officers:

President Vice President/Clerk Treasurer Recording Secretary

This two-step process—membership voting followed by board officer elections—helps maintain transparency, continuity, and shared responsibility in our governance.

If you've ever considered getting more involved, this is a wonderful time to step forward. Your experience, perspective, and passion can make a meaningful difference.

Ambassador Award

Since 1995, this award has celebrated the people whose kindness, camaraderie, and unwavering spirit lift us all. Below is a list of past honorees whose contributions have already been recognized. As you cast your vote, please choose someone not on this list—someone whose generosity, teamwork, and quiet acts of support continue to make our community stronger. Thank you for helping us honor the heart and soul of who we are.

Trailside Tidbits: How Much Is Your Horse Really Eating?

Greetings, Bay Staters

Most of us are familiar with the basic rule of thumb for daily hay intake: horses generally need about 2% of their body weight to maintain a healthy condition. For a 1,000-lb horse, that works out to roughly 20 lbs of quality hay each day—more if they're working hard or braving our New England winters.

But here's something fascinating.

While reading the Winter 2025 issue of EQUUS Magazine, I came across a study from Scotland that takes forage monitoring to a whole new level. Researchers there weren't satisfied with simply turning horses out to pasture. They wanted to measure exactly how much grass a horse consumes while grazing.

Their solution is ingenious: a "field-safe" halter equipped with a small device that records the sounds horses make as they eat. Horses produce two distinct noises;

1. the ripping sound of incisors tearing grass, and
2. the grinding of molars as they chew.

By capturing and analyzing these sounds with specialized software, researchers can estimate how much forage a horse consumes on pasture.

Remarkable, isn't it?
